This subhead provides for expenditure on the pay and marriage allowance of officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Brigade of Gurkhas, of Colonial, &c., troops in the British Army, of certain Commonwealth (including Colonial) forces under War Office control (other than those provided for under subheads A and B), and of the Trucial Oman Scouts.

1. GURKHA TROOPS IN THE BRITISH ARMY.—See note on p. 11.

2. COLONIAL, &c., TROOPS IN THE BRITISH ARMY.—Apart from the local Colonial forces, certain Colonial and other personnel are enlisted in the British Army abroad. Maltese are enlisted mainly in the Royal Malta Artillery, and Malayans, Chinese, &c., in certain units of the British Army.

3. COMMONWEALTH (INCLUDING COLONIAL) FORCES.—The local forces in British Somaliland, Aden Protectorate, Gibraltar and the West Indies are under War Office administration. The Nigerian Military Forces and the Sierra Leone Military Forces reverted to the control of the Colonial Governments concerned on 1st April, 1958, and 1st January, 1959, respectively. The cost of local forces administered by the War Office is borne on Army Votes. Contributions towards this cost are received by the War Office from most of the Colonies concerned and from the Colonial Services Vote. Provision for the receipt of these contributions is made under subhead Z of this and other Votes (see note on p. 27.).

4. TRUCIAL OMAN SCOUTS.—The Trucial Oman Scouts are administered by the War Office. The cost of this force is borne on Army Votes and a contribution towards the cost is received from the Foreign Office Grants and Services Vote. Provision for the receipt of this contribution is made under subhead Z of this and other Votes. The Trucial Oman Scouts are available for internal security and local defence duties.

F.—MARRIAGE ALLOWANCE, &c., OF OFFICERS

This subhead provides for expenditure on the marriage allowance of officers of the British Army (other than those provided for under subhead E).

In addition, where eligible, officers and other ranks receive allowances from the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance under the provisions of the Family Allowances Act, 1945, in respect of children resident in Great Britain and, under similar enactments, from the Governments of Northern Ireland and the Isle of Man in respect of children resident there. As these enactments do not cover children living with their fathers at their duty stations abroad, overseas family allowance in respect of these children is paid from Army Votes, and provision is made for this here and under subhead G. This allowance is supplemented by a cost of living addition at certain stations abroad (see note (iii) under subhead K).

G.—MARRIAGE ALLOWANCE, &c., OF WARRANT OFFICERS, NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND MEN

This subhead provides for expenditure on the marriage allowance of warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the British Army (other than those provided for under subhead E). Provision is also made for overseas family allowance (see note under subhead F).

H.—NATIONAL SERVICE GRANTS

This subhead provides for expenditure on national service grants issued to national servicemen. They are intended to relieve cases of financial difficulty where the ordinary Service emoluments of these men are insufficient to enable them to meet their obligations to their families and other dependants or exceptional personal commitments. The grants are paid by the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance on behalf of the War Office.

Category IB.—Volunteers who accept the same liabilities for service as those in Category IA but who are not required to train in peace.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Category IIA.—Personnel who have the normal liability for service and who are required to train in peace.

It includes national servicemen and national service volunteers who, having completed both whole-time and part-time service in the Army under the National Service Acts, 1948-55, will remain members of the reserve until 30th June, 1959. With certain exceptions it also includes men who served in the Army between 3rd September, 1939, and 31st December, 1948, who will remain members of the reserve until they reach the age of 45 years or until 30th June, 1959, whichever is the earlier. Members of the Army General Reserve are unpaid and have no liability for training; they may be called out by proclamation, in the event of imminent national danger or great emergency, for service in any part of the world; and they may be called out without a proclamation in defence of the United Kingdom.

TERRITORIAL ARMY

1. Organization.—The current rôle of the Territorial Army on the outbreak of war is:
- (a) to provide a number of supporting units which are committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization;
 - (b) to provide a number of divisions and other formations and units with the initial task of home defence in all its aspects; and
 - (c) to provide certain anti-aircraft and base units in the United Kingdom.

The Territorial Army consists of:

- (a) volunteer officers and other ranks;

3. Terms of engagement.—For volunteer other ranks the initial engagement is for two, three or four years. Re-engagements are permitted in suitable cases for further periods of one, two, three or four years.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The period of annual camp is normally 14 days, although in special circumstances it may be eight days only. The minimum numbers of training periods a year are 40 for a recruit with no previous service and 30 for a trained soldier ; for every day less than 14 at annual camp, four additional training periods are required to be carried out. Training periods may be carried out at the Territorial Army centre or at week-end camp ; not more than four periods in any one day may count towards the training liability. Arrangements are also made for voluntary training periods in excess of the obligatory minimum.

At present national service officers and men are not called upon to carry out training during their period of part-time service.

5. Finance.—The general expenses of the administration of the Territorial Army are met by Territorial and Auxiliary Forces Associations from annual grants made by the War Office (see note under subhead C). Expenditure on works services, &c., which is controlled by the War Office, is also generally met by Associations, partly from special grants for approved services made by the War Office through commands, and partly by annual grants for ordinary maintenance services made direct by the War Office (see note under subhead D) ; expenditure on works services, &c., at week-end centres and training areas (where required exclusively for Territorial Army purposes) is met by commands as a charge against Vote 2. Payments for travelling to evening training and of training expenses allowance (see note under subhead E) are made by Associations, but all other cash emoluments of members of the Territorial Army are paid through Regular Army paymasters. The cost of stores, supplies and services (e.g., clothing, equipment and rations) provided from army sources and compensation for injuries arising from Territorial Army service are borne on normal Army Votes. Most grants to Associations are made in reimbursement of expenditure actually incurred, but Associations are not required to refund unspent balances of grants for heating, lighting and clearing ; maintenance of buildings ; unit administration ; &c.

EXPLANATORY NOTESDEPARTMENT OF THE PERMANENT UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE

The Permanent Under-Secretary of State is Secretary of the Army Council and Accounting Officer for Army Votes, funds and accounts. He is responsible for the Secretariat of the War Office and the interior economy of the office ; for civilian staffs of the War Department ; for chaplaincy services ; for army contracts ; for dealing with claims by and against the War Department ; for public relations ; and for the administration of War Department lands. As Accounting Officer he is responsible for the control of army expenditure and financial advice generally ; for the preparation of the Parliamentary Estimates ; for accounts and audit ; and for the organization and administration of the Royal Army Pay Corps.

Provision is made for Command Secretaries (and their staffs) who represent the Permanent Under-Secretary of State in the home and overseas commands. As part of a policy of decentralization they advise the General Officers Commanding-in-Chief on administrative and financial matters. They are responsible for the audit of accounts and also carry out certain executive functions as regards, for example, contracts and civilian staffs.

In 1958 a new civilian works organization was introduced to administer works services. This organization is the joint responsibility of the Quarter-Master-General and the Permanent Under-Secretary of State (see pp. 133 and 175).

EXPLANATORY NOTESVOTE 4*CIVILIANS

This Vote provides for expenditure on the pay of the main body of civilian employees of the War Department at home and abroad, and on miscellaneous allowances, including outfit allowance, foreign service allowance and expatriation allowances for those posted to overseas commands and transfer grants (see pp. 197, 198). It also provides for expenditure on employer's contributions under the National Insurance Schemes, the Federated Superannuation System for Universities, the Federated Superannuation Scheme for Nurses and Hospital Officers, the Teachers (Superannuation) Acts, and social insurance and superannuation schemes for certain staff engaged locally abroad. Provision for expenditure on these contributions is shown separately.

The civilian staff of the War Department employed abroad consists of two categories, those who are posted from the United Kingdom to serve tours of duty overseas and those who are engaged locally at stations abroad. In the following pages all civilian staff employed in the latter category are shown separately as locally engaged.

The estimated average numbers of civilian staff employed in the United Kingdom or serving on tours of duty overseas are 32,406 non-industrial staff and 56,256 industrial staff. The estimated average numbers of staff locally engaged at stations abroad are 86,416.

The numbers in the numerical columns of the subheads are those of staff expected to be in post on 1st April, 1959. The average increase or reduction in numbers expected in the course of the year is shown at the end of each subhead or item.

The pay, &c., of the civilian staff of the War Office (except subordinate professional and technical works staff), of certain directly employed civilian labour for works and lands services and of the civilian staff of the Royal Hospital, Chelsea, is provided for under Vote 3, Vote 8 and Vote 10 respectively. Provision for all other directly employed civilian staff is made here.

Details of the basis of provision for the salaries and wages of civilian staff are given in Appendix III. The salary scales of the civilian staff provided for in this Vote are, in general, given in Appendix III and are shown in the Vote itself only in exceptional cases.

The subheads of this Vote are the responsibility of the Member of Council who administers the establishments concerned.

EXPLANATORY NOTESVOTE 8*WORKS, BUILDINGS AND LANDS

This Vote provides for expenditure on the construction and maintenance of War Department buildings, &c., including the purchase of engineer stores and materials, but excluding additional married quarters provided for under Vote 11. The Vote also covers expenditure on the purchase, hiring and requisitioning of land and buildings for the Regular Army and the upkeep of War Department estates. Provision is made under subhead F for repayments of principal and for interest charges on money borrowed under the Armed Forces (Housing Loans) Acts, 1949 and 1958, other than that borrowed for the construction of quarters for regular officers and men serving with the Territorial Army (see pp. 37 and 175).

In 1958 a new civilian works organization was introduced, jointly headed by a Director-General of Works and an Assistant Under-Secretary of State who, with the assistance of the Director of Quartering, administer works services. This organization is responsible to the Quarter-Master-General to the Forces and the Permanent Under-Secretary of State.

Works services are normally executed by contract. In addition military and War Department civilian labour is employed to a limited extent.

Expenditure on the purchase, hiring and requisitioning of land and buildings and on the upkeep of War Department estates is administered under the Permanent Under-Secretary of State by the Comptroller of Lands and Claims.

This subhead provides for expenditure on the construction and maintenance of army buildings, and the purchase of works stores and fixed machinery and plant.

Works services are divided into three parts according to their nature and value. To arrive at the figure of cash to be provided under this subhead it is necessary to deduct the value of stores issued from stock since their cash cost has already been charged to Votes at the time of purchase (see note on item 4).

The costs of military staffs employed by the Royal Engineers on the supervision of works services and of military labour are provided for in Vote 1 and the cost of civilian supervisory staffs in Vote 4, subhead B. The only staffs provided for in this subhead are directly employed civilian labour, of whom it is estimated that not more than 5,500 will be employed at home during 1959-60.

VOTE 10

NON-EFFECTIVE SERVICES

This Vote provides for payments to military personnel on their retirement or discharge from the Army and payments to civilians employed by the War Department on the termination of their employment. It also provides for payments to the families or estates of military personnel and civilian employees on their death.

Awards fall generally into three classes :

- (1) awards for service ;
- (2) awards for disablement or death due to service ; and
- (3) special capital payments and resettlement grants payable to military personnel during the planned reduction of the Army.

1. AWARDS FOR SERVICE.

For military personnel the principal awards are :

- (a) retired pay and pensions for officers and other ranks respectively and lump sum terminal grants in conjunction with these awards ;
- (b) gratuities for those not qualified for retired pay or pensions ; and
- (c) family pensions and gratuities to widows and children.

The current rates and conditions of these awards are contained in the Army Pensions Warrant, 1957. Officers or soldiers retired or discharged prematurely during the reduction of the Army may receive retired pay or pension after shorter periods of service than usual, and these soldiers may receive a credit of up to five years for the purpose of calculating pension. These special terms, which are explained in Cmnd. 231, are laid down in Army Order 139 of 1957. Provision has also been made for the revised rates and conditions recommended by the Advisory Committee on Recruiting and accepted by Her Majesty's Government (Cmnd. 570).

For civilians, the principal awards are :

- (a) pensions to those on the pensionable establishment ;
- (b) gratuities to unestablished employees ;
- (c) gratuities on death while serving ; and
- (d) pensions to widows and children of established employees.

The current rates and conditions of these awards are laid down in the Superannuation Acts.

Increases on many of the pensions awarded for service are paid under the Pensions Increase Acts, 1920 to 1956, for civilians and under the corresponding Pensions Increase Warrants for military personnel.

2. AWARDS FOR DISABLEMENT OR DEATH DUE TO SERVICE.

For military personnel, the principal awards are disability retired pay and pensions for officers and other ranks respectively and pensions on their death to their dependants. Where disablement or death arise from service in units raised in the United Kingdom since 3rd September, 1939, or from service in former wars, awards are administered and paid by the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance. This Vote provides for expenditure on awards on disablement or death due to peace-time service before 3rd September, 1939, or to service in various units raised abroad.

For civilians, awards are mainly pensions or single payments to the employees themselves or, on their death, to their dependants.

3. COMPENSATION AND RESETTLEMENT GRANTS PAYABLE TO MILITARY PERSONNEL DURING THE PLANNED REDUCTION OF THE ARMY.

Officers, and soldiers serving on pensionable engagements, who are prematurely retired or discharged as a result of the planned reduction in the size of the Army, may receive special capital payments in compensation ; those who retire or are discharged in the ordinary way during the period of reduction may receive a special resettlement grant in addition to retired pay or service pension and terminal grant.

The rates and conditions for these special capital payments and resettlement grants, which are explained in Cmnd. 231, are contained in Army Order 139 of 1957.

EXPLANATORY NOTESE.—ROYAL HOSPITAL, CHELSEA

This subhead provides for expenditure on :

- (i) the maintenance, &c., of the in-pensioners accommodated in the Hospital ;
- (ii) the pay, &c., of the staff ;
- (iii) fuel, light and furniture ;
- (iv) the maintenance of those parts of the Hospital building which are not classed as historic monuments ; and
- (v) an instalment of the cost of rebuilding the Infirmary of the Hospital, which was destroyed during the last war.

The Ministry of Works carries out the maintenance of the Hospital building, and bears the cost of maintaining those parts of the building classed as historic monuments.

The Hospital was founded by King Charles II about 1681. Originally it was supported partly out of poundage levied on the Army and on the pensioners of the time, but all revenues from these sources ceased in 1847. It is governed by a Board of Commissioners drawn from members of the Government, the Army Council and distinguished military or civil officers, serving or retired. Some of them serve ex-officio and some are specially appointed. They act under Letters Patent from the Crown.

The Governorship of the Hospital is bestowed as a reward for distinguished service upon a field-marshal or a retired general officer. The Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary is a retired major-general. Officers filling other appointments are selected from the Active or Retired List of the Army.

In addition to free accommodation, food, &c., the in-pensioners receive pay, in the nature of pocket money, at various rates according to circumstances. They also receive some addition from the private revenues of the Hospital which are accounted for separately by the Board of Commissioners.

The establishment of in-pensioners authorized by Royal Warrant is 558, but the number accommodated at present is below this figure. The provision is based upon the average number expected to be accommodated during the financial year. Some of the in-pensioners are temporarily accommodated at Leatherhead, Surrey.

Permanent pensioners of good character (including those in receipt of awards from the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance for disability due to service) may be admitted as in-pensioners, preference being given to those who had the best character and longest service in the Army. To be eligible they must be incapable of maintaining themselves and be either over 55 years of age or incapable by reason of disability due to army service.

On being admitted to the Hospital a pensioner ceases to be eligible for pension, but his pension may be restored on his leaving the Hospital.

In addition to administering the Hospital the Board of Commissioners is charged under Act 2 and 3, Will. IV, cap. 53, with the administration of the unclaimed Army Prize Fund, the income of which is utilized in aid of the general purposes of the Hospital. It also administers various legacies and bequests which have been made to the Hospital from time to time.

This subhead provides for expenditure on :

1. PENSIONS TO SOLDIERS, COMMUTATION OF PENSIONS, &c.—Pensions in respect of service are normally granted on discharge after the completion of 22 years' service or more with the Colours ; in some circumstances, e.g., on invaliding or on premature discharge during the reduction of the Army, a pension may be granted after a shorter period of service.

The provision also covers awards for disability due to peace-time service before 3rd September, 1939, and, for soldiers of certain units raised in the Colonies, &c., for disability due to service in peace or war ; and also disablement allowances granted to members of the Auxiliary and Reserve Forces under the Royal Warrant published as Army Order 59 of 1948. Provision is also made for special campaign pensions, which are compassionate awards payable to ex-regular soldiers who have earned war medals before 1st October, 1931, and who have reached the age of 65 years and are in need.

A pensioner may commute part of his pension, subject to certain health restrictions, provided commutation is considered to be to his permanent advantage.

2. TERMINAL GRANTS, GRATUITIES, &c.—This item provides for terminal grants to regular soldiers discharged to pension ; and for gratuities to those regular soldiers and members of the Women's Royal Army Corps who, on termination of service, are not eligible for service pensions. During the period of the reduction of the Army, provision is also made here for special capital payments to redundant other ranks discharged prematurely and for resettlement grants to those who leave the service at the end of engagements of not less than 15 years.

3. PENSIONS AND GRATUITIES TO QUEEN'S ARMY SCHOOLMISTRESSES.—Provision is made here for pensions and gratuities to army schoolmistresses given, under regulations now obsolescent, in respect of long service or disability due to service.

G.—REWARDS TO SOLDIERS FOR DISTINGUISHED OR LONG SERVICE

This subhead provides for expenditure on :

1. VICTORIA CROSS PENSIONS, &c.—The Victoria Cross was instituted in 1856 to recognize, irrespective of rank, acts of signal valour performed in the presence of the enemy. Recipients other than commissioned officers are entitled to an annuity (normally £10, which may be increased in certain circumstances).

2. REWARDS FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICE.—Small annuities, as rewards for meritorious service, are granted to warrant officers and non-commissioned officers above the rank of corporal. The normal rate of annuity is £10, but this may be increased under the conditions of the Pensions (Increase) Warrants of 1944 to 1956. The annuities are payable in addition to ordinary service or disability pension.

3. GRATUITIES FOR DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT AND FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT.—Recipients of the Military Cross (other than commissioned officers), the Distinguished Conduct Medal, the Military Medal (if awarded since 2nd September, 1939) and certain other decorations receive a special gratuity of £20 on discharge without pension. Recipients of the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal, other than warrant officers, Class I, receive a gratuity (normally £5) on discharge or promotion to warrant officer, Class I.

4. YEOMAN WARDERS OF THE TOWER OF LONDON.—These posts are reserved for retired non-commissioned officers, as a reward for good service. Provision is made here for the pay, &c., which yeoman warders receive from army funds in addition to their emoluments from the Ministry of Works.

EXPLANATORY NOTESVOTE 11*ADDITIONAL MARRIED QUARTERS

This Vote provides for expenditure on the construction of approved married quarters under the terms of the Armed Forces (Housing Loans) Acts, 1949 and 1958. Under these Acts, sums may be issued from the Consolidated Fund during the fifteen financial years ending on 31st March, 1965, in aid of army expenditure on the provision of approved housing accommodation in Great Britain for married persons serving in, or employed in connection with, the Army; these sums are included under subhead Z as appropriations in aid. Any surplus that may arise on Vote 2, subhead D, and Vote 8 may be applied to meet expenditure under subhead A of this Vote and reduce the sum which would otherwise be issued out of the Consolidated Fund. The sums so issued in any financial year are normally repayable to the Exchequer in 60 equal annual instalments of principal and interest combined, the first instalment being repayable in the year following that in which the advance was made; but, in addition, receipts from the sale of married quarters approved for financing under these Acts may be applied to the premature repayment of these issues, and of the interest charges on them. These repayments are provided for in Vote 2 and Vote 8.

Quarters are normally approved by the Treasury for financing under the arrangements described only when they are so sited and designed as to be suitable for civilian occupation in the event of their no longer being required by the Army. Provision for expenditure on married quarters which does not qualify to be met from this Vote is made in Vote 8.

In 1958 a new civilian works organization was introduced, jointly headed by a Director-General of Works and an Assistant Under-Secretary of State who, with the assistance of the Director of Quartering, administer works services, including the building of additional married quarters. This organization is responsible to the Quarter-Master-General to the Forces and the Permanent Under-Secretary of State.

(b) Regular other ranks aged 21 years or over whose families in the United Kingdom are provided with public accommodation, or who are accompanied by their families overseas. When his family is in the United Kingdom and is not provided with public accommodation a regular soldier aged 21 years or over receives 21s. 0d. a week more.

Ration allowance.—Soldiers are entitled to a ration in kind, or a money allowance in lieu, the amount of which is revised periodically to meet variations in prices, &c. The current home rate is 5s. 10d. a day (£106 a year). The rates abroad vary according to local prices.

Clothing allowance.—This allowance is issued to soldiers, with some exceptions, to meet the cost of maintaining certain items of clothing and necessaries. The rates vary according to the type of engagement and also, in the case of women, according to the scale of clothing in issue.

Local overseas allowance.—This allowance is paid at varying rates in aid of the extra expense to which soldiers are subject at certain stations abroad.

Overseas family allowance.—Soldiers who are accompanied by their children overseas receive an allowance equal to that which would be payable under the Family Allowances Act, 1945, if they were in the United Kingdom. The allowance is supplemented by a cost of living addition at certain stations abroad.

Education allowance.—This allowance is paid for the purpose of assisting soldiers who are liable to frequent changes of station in the education of their children up to the age of 18 years. For children attending boarding school as boarders the maximum rates are : first child £150 a year ; second child £175 a year ; third and subsequent children £200 a year. For each child placed in the care of a guardian and attending day school the rate is £50 a year.

APPENDIX III

SALARIES, WAGES, &c., OF CIVILIAN STAFF

1. Scales of pay.—The salary scales of civilian staff are, in general, shown in the schedule below ; in exceptional cases they are shown in the body of the Estimates. Annual salaries are expressed in pounds and weekly pay in shillings.

The salaries and wages shown in the schedule and in the body of the Estimates are those which apply in the national rate area (see paragraph 4), unless otherwise indicated.

In many cases temporary staff are paid on ranges of salary identical in limits with the salary scales of their permanent counterparts. Where this is not the case the temporary staff are shown separately from the permanent staff in the Estimates and the rate of salary is usually indicated.

A part-time officer is paid an appropriate proportion of the salary received by a full-time officer on similar duties.

2. Central Pay Settlement.—With effect from 1st December, 1958, an increase of the order of 3½ per cent. to the pay scales of most non-industrial civil servants shown in Estimates was agreed. The pay scales and rates of pay shown in the schedule have not been revised to take account of this increase, the exact effect of which has in most cases still to be negotiated.

Scales of pay and provision for salaries in Estimates have also not been amended. A sum representing a broad estimate of the additional cost of the settlement has been added to each salary subhead and is described as “Central Pay Settlement, 1958”.

3. Increments.—The scales of pay shown in the schedule below and in the Estimates give the minimum and maximum in each case, and, in some cases, the rate of annual increment.

4. Provincial differentiation.—The national salary scales or rates of pay apply to officers working in the larger Provincial towns. In most of the principal grades such scales or rates of pay are increased by the addition of a pensionable London weighting (which varies according to salary) when applied to staff serving in London, and are subject to a range of provincial deductions on the same scale when applied to staff serving in Provincial areas outside the larger towns.

The national pay area is being extended gradually to all Provincial areas, so that provincial deductions will disappear on 1st January, 1962.

The following standard additions and deductions are in accordance with the recommendations of the Royal Commission on the Civil Service :

National Salary (excluding all allowances)	Addition for London ; Deduction for the Provinces
	£	s.
Juveniles (up to age 20 inclusive)	7	10
Adults :
Up to £317	8	0
£377-£485	15	0
£527-£730	20	0
£772-£975	25	0
£1,017-£1,170	30	0
£1,257-£1,460	40	0
£1,547 and over	50	0

Escalator provisions ease the transition to each larger addition or deduction. The intervening salary ranges not shown in the above table are those within which the evenly graduated transition from one level to the next higher level of deductions or additions applies. For instance, the additions to and deductions from a national salary of £1,215 a year would be £35.

Comparable adjustments are made in weekly rates of pay.

The pay of a few grades is still subject to the scale of Provincial Differentiation which applied generally before the introduction of the steeper differentials recommended by the Royal Commission. It is the intention to bring such grades into line with the rest of the Service at the earliest opportunity.

The salaries and wages shown in the Estimates are national rates, subject to London additions and provincial deductions if the staff in the grade in question are employed outside the national rate areas, unless they are described as :

“undifferentiated” : this signifies a salary applying to staff in national, London and Provincial localities, or in any two of these three classes of areas ; or

“local” : this signifies a salary applying to staff employed in Provincial areas only for whom no national salary has been fixed ; or

“London” : this signifies a salary applying to staff employed in London only.

5. Pay supplement.—A few grades have not yet received new consolidated scales or rates of pay and continue to receive one or more pay supplements. The total amounts payable continue to be those shown in paragraph 5 of Appendix III to Army Estimates for 1957-58.

6. Retention of “take-home” pay as at 1st July, 1956.—In order that the introduction of the new pay scales and abolition of regular overtime should not result in some cases in a reduction of regular earnings, it has been agreed that officers should not receive less than the “take-home” pay which they received in the pay period immediately prior to 1st July, 1956. “Take-home” pay can in no circumstances be increased. The concession is not intended to protect officers against changes in emoluments of a kind which could have occurred in the normal course prior to 1st July, 1956. Officers benefiting from the concessions are not identified in the body of the Estimates ; the scales of pay applicable to the grade are quoted in all cases.

7. Equal pay.—The principle of equal pay for women is being implemented in seven equal annual stages. The fifth stage took effect from 1st January, 1959.

8. Transfer grants.—Certain grants are payable to officers whose salaries are subject to the differentiation system when they are permanently transferred from one locality to another, either at home or abroad. The allowances vary, according to salary with pay supplement, from £25 to £60 in the case of single officers without dependants ; from £50 to £95 in the case of married officers ; and from £75 to £135 in the case of married officers with more than one child receiving full-time education.

9. Expatriation allowances.—From 1st January, 1956, these allowances are payable to civilian staff who are posted overseas on tours of duty of 12 months' or longer duration, by way of compensation for the resulting disturbance of their lives. They vary in amount according to salary and are paid as a lump sum at the beginning of the tour. The allowances for a standard tour (three years, except in certain stations where, for climatic or other reasons, a shorter period is normally served) range from £60 to £160 for married staff and from £40 to £105 for single staff, on the first tour; and from £90 to £240 for married staff and from £60 to £160 for single staff, on the second and any subsequent tour. For tours of either more or less than the standard duration, proportionately greater or smaller amounts are payable.

10. Outfit allowance.—This is paid to civilian staff and their families posted to certain stations overseas to enable them to purchase suitable clothing which they would not normally buy for use in the United Kingdom. A further allowance is payable to certain United Kingdom-based civilian staff and their families as a contribution towards the cost of providing travelling trunks, &c., on their first posting overseas.

11. Foreign service allowance.—This is paid to civilian staff serving tours of duty overseas to compensate for the extra cost of living abroad.

12. Civil service sick pay and national insurance benefits.—The sick pay of a civil servant concurrently in receipt of national insurance sickness or injury benefit is abated to the extent necessary to ensure that sick pay and national insurance benefit together do not exceed full pay. Full-time non-industrial civil servants are allowed, if they choose, to forgo their claims to national insurance benefits and to draw their civil service sick pay without abatement. In view of the labour which financial adjustment would entail, no adjustment is made with the National Insurance Fund or the Industrial Injuries Fund in respect of the sick pay so issued in place of national insurance benefits.

13. Staff restaurants.—The following assistance is provided to staff restaurants :

(a) Free services (the cost of which is provided for in part in the Estimates for Public Buildings, &c., United Kingdom)—accommodation (including heating, lighting, water and normal cleaning), furniture, heavy equipment, initial supplies of light equipment for kitchens and dining-rooms, and fuel for certain purposes. (In addition, normal replacements of light equipment for dining-rooms may be provided at a reduced price.)

(b) Cash grants to the smaller restaurants on the following scale :

Number of catering staff employed by the restaurant (part-time staff each counting as half)	Annual cash subsidy
	£
Up to and including 1	25
1½ to 9½	50
10 to 11½	35
12	10

14. Numbers.—The numbers in the numerical columns of salary subheads are shown as nearly as possible on the same basis as those in the Statements of Staff Employed in Government Departments, and are those of the staff expected to be in post on 1st April, 1959. This involves special counting conventions. In particular, part-time staff are counted as half (to the nearest whole number higher) in the numerical column, the full number of individuals being shown in the descriptive column.
