

Statute Law Revision Bill [H.L.]

733

MEMORANDUM

1. The object of Statute Law Revision Bills is to eliminate dead enactments which have not been specifically repealed and so facilitate the publication of revised editions of the living statute law.

2. Two such editions have been published: the first, comprising eighteen volumes, was completed in 1885 and contained the statute law to the year 1878: the second edition (which is the existing edition) was completed in 1929 and contains the statute law to the year 1920. It comprises twenty-four volumes, the first sixteen of which were published during the years 1888-1900, the next four in the year 1909 and the last four in the years 1928 and 1929. More than thirty Statute Law Revision Acts contributed to the publication of the first and second editions but the fact that the publication of the existing edition extended over a period of forty years has inevitably resulted in a large part of its contents ceasing to be in force either by reason of express repeal or otherwise.

3. It is a recommendation of the Statute Law Committee that a third edition, containing the statute law to the year 1948, should be published as soon as possible. The Statute Law Revision Act, 1948, which covered the period 1235 to 1800, was passed with the object of facilitating the publication of such an edition and the present Bill which extends to the year 1948 will complete this preliminary process.

4. Since the third edition will contain a volume of Church Assembly Measures, the Bill deals with the revision of such Measures (see clauses 1 and 4 and the Third Schedule).

5. The Government of Northern Ireland have decided to publish a revised edition of the statutes affecting Northern Ireland: consequently, it will be possible to omit from the third edition enactments relating to matters within the powers of the Parliament of Northern Ireland and the Bill so provides (clause 3 (1)).

6. The Bill contains provisions (clause 5) which are designed to facilitate, so far as regards matters not within the powers of the Parliament of Northern Ireland, the publication of the proposed revised edition of the statutes for Northern Ireland.

[Bill 23]

A

NOTES ON THE BILL

Preamble and Clauses 1 and 2.

The form is traditional.

Clause 3.

Broadly speaking this clause is intended to approve the omission from future editions of revised statutes of enactments dealing with matters within the powers of the legislatures of the countries named. The clause does not, of course, deal with the repeal of such enactments, since that is a matter for those legislatures.

Subsection (2) specifically approves the omission of enactments relating to land purchase in Northern Ireland. This is necessary because, although the Northern Ireland Land Purchase (Winding Up) Act, 1935, declared the general subject matter of land purchase to be within the powers of the Parliament of Northern Ireland it did so subject to exceptions as to certain matters which accordingly remained reserved matters under the Government of Ireland Act, 1920.

Clause 5.

The main purpose of this clause is described in paragraph 6 of the Memorandum.

The purpose of subsection (2) of this clause is as follows. The repeals in the First Schedule to the Bill include repeals of enactments relating to ecclesiastical matters which hitherto have not been repealed in their application to Northern Ireland although they ceased to be part of the statute law of Ireland on the disestablishment of the Irish Church. Subsection (2) is intended to ensure that the repeal of such enactments shall not affect section 20 of the Irish Church Act, 1869, which provides that the then existing ecclesiastical law is deemed to subsist by contract binding on the members of the Church of Ireland.

First Schedule.

This Schedule includes enactments applicable to Northern Ireland which relate to matters mainly outside the powers of the Parliament of Northern Ireland.

Second Schedule.

The enactments contained in this Schedule which are to be found in Acts of the Irish Parliament passed before the commencement of the Union with Ireland Act, 1800, relate to matters mainly outside the powers of the Parliament of Northern Ireland.

Third Schedule.

See paragraph 4 of the Memorandum.
